Welcome to the University of Georgia College of Education! We are thrilled that you will be an integral part of our mission as we seek to make a difference in our community, state, country and world.

Background: The University of Georgia and the College of Education

The University of Georgia is a land-grant and sea-grant university with statewide commitments and responsibilities. We are also the state’s oldest, most comprehensive and most diverse institution of higher education. Our motto, “to teach, to serve, and to inquire into the nature of things,” reflects the University's integral and unique role in the conservation and enhancement of the state’s and the nation’s intellectual, cultural, and environmental heritage.

The University of Georgia was among the first Southern universities to establish a school of education. The mission of the College of Education at the University of Georgia is to enhance education, workforce development, health, and policy for the well-being of society through (a) the creation, communication, and application of new knowledge; (b) preparation of scholars, researchers, educators, and other professionals to meet the needs of our increasingly diverse, global, technological society; and (c) outreach initiatives engaged with matters related to the local community, state, nation, and world.

Today, the College of Education at the University of Georgia delivers top-quality instruction while providing its world-class faculty a climate for both basic and applied research and a service and outreach program designed to meet the needs of the educational and health communities of Georgia and beyond. Perennially ranked among the top education colleges in the country, Georgia’s COE is home to several nationally ranked programs.

The College of Education is housed in four buildings.

- Aderhold Hall - home to the Dean’s Office, the Departments of Communication Sciences and Special Education, Counseling and Human Development Services, Educational Psychology, Educational Theory and Practice, Language and Literacy Education, Mathematics and Science Education, the Torrance Center for Creativity and Talent Development, the Center for Latino Achievement and Success in Education, and the Program Evaluation Group

- River’s Crossing - home to the Department of Career and Information Studies and the Department of Lifelong Education, Administration, and Policy

- Ramsey – home to the Department of Kinesiology

- Administrative Services Annex – home to the Georgia Center for Assessment and Test Scoring and Reporting Services

The latest COE Annual Report will give you a glimpse into the many accomplishments of the college’s faculty, staff, and students: https://coe.uga.edu/news/publications/annual-report.
We welcome the addition of your unique set of experiences as you join the COE and make it stronger, better, and richer. Below are links and information to provide a smooth transition as you begin your employment with us.

Emergency Procedures
Make sure that someone in your unit (likely your supervisor) has information about who to contact in the event of an emergency as well as any information that could be critical in an emergency (such as the location of an epi pen). New employees should review procedures for a fire emergency (location of alarms, extinguishers, and evacuation routes), tornado or weather emergency (where to go), what to do for bomb or other threats, and various other safety concerns.
